

IN-Q

QUESTION EVERYTHING

IN-Q is a National Poetry Slam Champion and multi-platinum winning songwriter. Recently named one of Oprah's SuperSoul 100 thought leaders, his groundbreaking performances include selling out the largest one-man poetry show in Los Angeles history, being the first spoken word artist to perform with Cirque Du Soleil, and being featured on HBO's Def Poetry Jam and ESPN's World Series of Poker. His recent videos The Only Reason We're Alive and The Most Important Vote We'll Ever Cast went viral and have over six million views combined.

As a songwriter, IN-Q's hit single "Love You Like a Love Song" by Selena Gomez went multi-platinum, winning him a BMI award. He has also written with renowned artists including Aloe Blacc, Miley Cyrus, Mike Posner and Foster the People. In 2014, he co-wrote the Official Coca Cola FIFA World Cup Anthem and was most recently featured on Good Life, from ZHU's new album Generation Why.

Leading organizations including Instagram, Nike, Spotify, Lululemon, Shazam, A&E networks, The Grammy Foundation and many more have brought IN-Q in to lead his creativity and storytelling workshop and motivate their teams through his performance.

Ultimately IN-Q writes to entertain, inspire, and challenge his audiences to look deeper into the human experience and ask questions about themselves, their environment, and the world at large.
